

VIGOROUS, HALE AND HEARTY AT 95

MRS. LYDIA COUCH.

At Her Advanced Age, Mrs. Lydia Couch, Daughter of the American Revolution, Attended Camp Meeting—The Grand Old Lady Ascribes Her Great Activity and Splendid Health to the Daily and Regular Use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"It Keeps My Appetite and Digestion Good, and I Sleep Well."

"For the past four years I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a stimulant and medicine—taking a teaspoonful in a little water several times a day for weakness. It keeps my appetite and digestion good, and I sleep well. I am in my 95th year and attended the Willimantic camp meeting this summer." — MRS. LYDIA COUCH, Manchester, Conn. Sept. 28, 1904.

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

As in the case of Mrs. Couch, one of the few living daughters of the American Revolution, thousands of hale, active, alert and hearty old men and women, many of whom have passed the century mark, have supported and enabled to enjoy the blessings of a healthy and vigorous old age by the regular use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It is endorsed and recommended by ministers of the Gospel and prescribed by doctors as the most nourishing, purest, health-giving tonic, stimulant and invigorator known to medicine. It purifies the blood, quickens the circulation, repairs and builds up the weak and decayed nerves and tissues, and keeps every organ of the body in a strong, healthy condition, so as to resist the attacks of disease.

It is absolutely free from fusel oil and is the only whiskey recognized by the Government as a medicine.

Duffy's is the only positive cure and preventive of consumption, pneumonia, dyspepsia, indigestion, grip, malaria, diseases of the throat and lungs, and all bowel and stomach troubles. Sold by all reliable druggists and grocers everywhere, $1 a bottle.

BEWARE of dangerous imitations and substitutes. They are positively harmful and are sold for profit only by unscrupulous dealers. Look for the trademark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. Pictorial medical booklet free. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, New York.

ITALIAN CRUISER DOGALI WAS LAUNCHED YESTERDAY

VESSEL CAME UP TO THE CITY
AND MANY OF THE OFFICERS AND MEN WERE GIVEN SHORE LIBERTY.

The Italian cruiser Dogali, which has been on the Spanish dry dock for the past few days, was successfully launched yesterday. The cruiser was taken in the former Spanish dry dock and remained there until she was placed in thorough condition, which included the overhauling of the machinery and scraping and painting the hull.

While it has not been officially stated, or publicly known, the purpose of the visit of the cruiser was none other than to go into the dry dock here, as the one at New Orleans, where the vessel remained for several days, was deemed unsafe, and the department at Washington preferred that the foreigner to use an American naval dock that the one at Pensacola be used.

As soon as she was launched the war ship came up to the city and dropped anchor off Palafox wharf, where she will remain until her bunkers are filled with coal. During yesterday afternoon a large number of the officers and men were ashore, and were entertained by the Italian residents of the city.

It is expected that the cruiser will sail from Pensacola for Washington Sunday night or Monday morning, as she is due in Washington at an early date.

The laxative effect of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets is so agreeable and so natural that you do not realize it is the effect of a medicine. For sale by all druggists.

AMONG THE ESKIMOS.

Manlaughter is Not Uncommon, and Polygamy is Rare.

Manlaughter is by no means uncommon among the Eskimo heathen natives, according to Professor Erikson, but invariably leads to a kind of vendetta between the relatives of the murderer and those of the murdered person. Again, if a young married man or his wife dies the surviving party has the right to kill the small children should he or she not be in a position to guarantee their maintenance. Aged persons, on the other hand, are willingly supported by their relatives. Children are never beaten or punished, no matter how badly they behave. The Eskimos explain this custom by saying that the children have no power of understanding and therefore have no idea of wrong and punishment.

Polygamy is unusual, as there is a scarcity of Eskimo women. In spite of this, however, the professor met several men who had two wives. The exchange of wives is very frequent. Wives must obey their husbands; otherwise they are beaten. Husbands maintain that their wives must be beaten several times annually to prevent their desire for supremacy in the household from becoming too persistent.

OLIVE OIL.

The Method by Which It is Made on Tuscan Farms.

The olives, stones and all, are first crushed in a stone mill run by ox power. The mass of pulp is then transferred in flat wicker baskets to the "torchio," or oaken press, from which the oil oozes into a vat below. The presses at Diavole are very old, elaborately carved with the arms and devices of some early padrone. Tremendous pressure is applied through a primitive capstan arrangement which the men work by heavy wooden levers, walking round and round on the stone floor in a track much worn by the tread of laboring generations. There are commonly two or three squeezing of the pulp, the product of the first being of the finest quality. But the process, once begun, must be carried forward continuously lest the oil should spoil in the making. It is finally drawn off into huge earthen jars of immemorial pattern, like those in which the Forty Thieves of the Arabian tale concealed themselves for nefarious purposes. And it stands thus for a week in the adjoining clearing room, called the "chiaratoio," after which it is ready for the market—From "Life on a Tuscan Farm," by T. R. Sullivan, in Scribner's.

RACING IS NOW DEAD IN MISSOURI

NEW LAW PROHIBITING RACE TRACK GAMBLING WENT INTO EFFECT FRIDAY.

St. Louis, June 10.—When Judge Edward Maginn tolled the bell at the historic fair grounds track at the conclusion of the sixth race today, he sounded the knell of the racing game in Missouri.

Today the breeders' law, under which betting on the races has been legally conducted in Missouri since 1897, became dead letter, and the statute passed by the last legislature, making race track gambling a felony, went into effect.

Not only will it be illegal for Missourians to bet upon races run within the state, but it will be a penalitary offense for them to make wagers on races run outside of the state.

The effect of the new law can best be judged when it is stated that over $14,000,000 was wagered at the four St. Louis tracks during the racing season of 1904. Of this vast amount statistics show that fully one-half went into the pockets of the bookmakers and track owners.

In St. Louis Cella, Tilles and Adler, known as "the Big Three," who control the Delmar, Fair Grounds and Kinloch tracks, have become multimillionaires within a few years.

Ten years ago Louis Cella, then known as "the Dago saloonkeeper," was a poor man. Today his wealth is estimated at $5,000,000. Ben Adler and C. A. Tilles, his partners, are equally as rich.

From a saloonist, Cella became a bookmaker in the notorious "pool alley," which was permitted to run wide open in the heart of the St. Louis business district early in the nineties.

Public sentiment finally became so strong, however, that the police were forced to raid the place. It was then that Cella became interested in the old South Side "electric light" track, where races were run at night. Later he associated with Adler and Tilles, and when midnight racing was forced out of business they secured the passage of the breeders' law.

Under this protection, from 1897 until 1904, the "Big Three" had a monopoly on St. Louis racing. Then Patrick Carmody built the Union track and declared war upon the Western Jockey club. The venture was a failure, and the plant went into the hands of a receiver at the close of the first season.

This spring the property was sold at auction and was bought in by Carmody, who was backed by Edward Corrigan, and the new Panama track at New Orleans.

The track has been operated this season in opposition to the Western Jockey club, and as a result both places have maintained free gates.

Like Louis Cella, Barney Schreiber, probably the best known turfman in the west, owes his fortunes to the St. Louis tracks. He has the distinction of having run a $20 bill up to $1,000,000 in the betting ring.

In 1885 Schreiber was driving a grocery wagon in South St. Louis and was getting $20 a month for his work. He was an unsophisticated boy, and when the "electric light" track was started was a clinch for the touts. Before making the killing which made him famous, Schreiber was the victim of some ludicrous jokes.

Upon his first visit to the races, a tout advised Schreiber to play a certain horse "both ways." The tout stood beside Schreiber when the barrier flew up. Frightened by the flapping net, the horse carrying Barney's money wheeled and bolted in the

OLD AGE

Comes to Everyone, But Its Visit
May Be Postponed.

Old age is not a question of years. Some men are old at forty, others are young at sixty.

It's a mighty hard proposition to look young, no matter how young you feel if your hair is falling out and your head becoming bald.

Perhaps you are tired trying ineffectual remedies for this evil.

We don't blame you if you are.

Why not try an effective one for a change.

is not equal to the demand. Even so with Lemp's product. Located at St. Louis he established one of the largest breweries in the world, and yet every year the capacity has to be increased.
